01:34:21 Garth Dallas: Replying to "Watch Small Axe on P..."

Small Axe is a British anthology film series, created and directed by Steve McQueen. The anthology consists of five films that tell distinct stories about the lives of West Indian immigrants in London from the 1960s to the 1980s. Two episodes of the series were selected into the 2020 Cannes Film Festival. The series premiered on 15 November 2020 on BBC One in the United Kingdom and on 20 November 2020 on Amazon Prime Video in the United States. The title references a proverb - "Small axe fall big tree" or "If you are the big tree, we are the small axe" – that was popularised by Bob Marley in his 1973 song "Small Axe".

01:34:25 Raymond Sweet: I think the truth is these people have a following. To be clear 80 million people and many Black, voted for racists and fascists. There are 300 million people in the US -- minus the ones they deleted during COVID. Consider that some of them are children and couldn't vote and some didn't vote. So, what's the real number who would have voted for the other guy? They have been emboldened by the other guy. And then in Florida which has a rich ethnic diversity, one of those ethnicities brought racism with them from their Caribbean Island. Fidel Castro has a lot of faults, but his biggest crime was uplifting Afro Cubans.

01:34:25 Carole Copeland Thomas She/Her/Hers: @Jim and our other distinguished guests, we will have time at the end of the panel discussion for Q&A.

01:34:47 Ramona Dvorak: Some of you seem so baffled about why, after decades of struggle, Black people are at the bottom of almost all parameters of quality of life measures. You present corporate people who "made it" as something to be proud of while masses of Black people suffer and die from treatable diseases; police murder; mass incarceration, etc. Here is the answer: we live under CAPITALISM/ IMPERIALISM! A system of exploitation built on white supremacy; patriarchy; homophobia; xenophobia and bigotry! We need revolution to overthrow this SYSTEM and bring a new system into being. A few Black CEOs of corporations is NOT what we should be aiming for! We do not need a seat at this table. We need to overturn the table!! I refer anyone, who really wants change to check out revcom.us and learn about a revolutionary movement led by Bob Avakian who was radicalized by the Black Panther Party and has developed "The New Synthesis of Communism" a ground breaking book I encourage you to read!

01:34:56 Henry Crosby: Keith, you mentioned that that today we have less Black CEO's on Corporate America than 20 years ago. Curious what the panel feels may be the primary reasons.

01:34:59 Raymond Sweet: I have seen it too, Keith. Some Black people won't even refer other Black people to a job.

01:35:51 Ramona Dvorak: I find the focus on getting more Black CEO's as the answer for equality insulting and offensive!!!

01:36:00 Barbara Davis: Thank you Carol. I learned something new. Black History all over the world. Wonderful 01:37:08 Marjorie Elliott: Great point Tracey Gibson. Wealth gap must be acknowledged.

01:37:43 Cassie Quinlan: Lineage matters, learning and respect matter. Yet values get disrupted when people of each generation move away. Our world is fragmented, and yet our conversations miss a lot, they take place in tribes (including families, business, churches).

01:39:18 Marie Doubleday: My son grew up sailing and participated in races. He also grew up skiing through the National Brotherhood of Skiers, which is the largest or one of the largest ski clubs in the United States and African American centric.

01:41:00 Raymond Sweet: That's concerning, Jabari. You don't have to prove you're not like them. They don't have to prove they aren't in the Klan. We shouldn't be going around doing things we don't like to prove that we are liked. We need to honor and embrace our full selves. So, if you like hip hop like it. If you like classical, like it. If you like lochs like em. If you like suit and ties, like it. If you like wearing baggy pants like it. We shouldn't have to code switch our existence to fit in. Golf and Basketball are both games. The piano and violin both make music. I'll leave it at -- Be you. Be your full you.
